Wellbeing support services for doctors and medical students

The BMA carried out a survey of services throughout the UK that support the wellbeing of doctors and medical students. This document outlines the results. We hope sharing this information is helpful for doctors and medical students who are looking for support locally and for those who may be involved in supporting them. The services listed are only available to medics. Services that did not respond to our survey may not have been included. If you are aware of a service you think qualifies for inclusion, or if you need to change an existing entry, please contact us at wellbeingsupport@bma.org.uk.

Please be aware that your local occupational health department may also be able to help.
